What we should know and what we should be able to do:

To learn about what makes themselves and others special

- I can recognise some of the things that make me special
- I can describe ways I am similar and different to others
- I understand that everyone has something about them that makes them special

To learn about roles and responsibilities at home and school

- I can identify the different roles of people at home and school
- I can solve simple dilemmas about taking responsibility
- I can explain why it is important to take responsibility at school and at home (including looking after the local environment)

To learn about being co-operative with others

- I can recognise different types of helpful and unhelpful behaviour in the playground and in the classroom
- I can challenge unhelpful behaviour in a positive way
- I understand how my behaviour can affect others
